

Draw a grid

I wrote 15 grids for the story board.

Choose an opening scene:

For this health tracking application, there are two main opening scenes. The first is when users come across our health tracking application online by chance while searching for something related to health or health management. The second occurs when users, especially students, become concerned about their health and visit a health institute (our primary target being college health centers), where they are recommended to use the application to track and manage their health.

Fill out the storyboard

